

FIDE ERKEN

On the Beach

Silence is cut by the waves their whiteness calls innocence

The most fantastic taste is the flight of the sea-gulls

Comparing the sound of the waves to the noise of the cities it's possible to understand God's miracle

What we possess in the world is obliged to disappear like the sea-gulls' sudden flight